High Temps Bring More Overflows

Flood Warning Is Issued For Ashland Area

Flood dangers loomed Friday along Nebraska's rivers and streams as temperatures in the 50s speeded the flow of run-off waters.

Salt creek, the Missouri, Platte and Republican apparently were the main trouble spots.

At the Lincoln sewage plant, Twenty-second and Teresa streets, the Salt creek reading dropped to 26.3 feet this noon after reaching 28 feet at midnight.

However, the U. S. weather bureau warned of a rise along Salt creek from Lincoln to Ashland tonight. Acting Mayor K.E. Harris said the Ashland situation was "much better" today after two ice jams along the creek went out late Thursday and the stream dropped two feet.

The weather bureau said the rise will continue through the night at Ashland. Water above bankful is indicated with moderate flooding of the lower parts of Ashland and considerable water on the lowlands around Ashland. The ice may cause some local gorges.

Water still covered the cutoff from Ashland to highway No. 6, measuring approximately a foot deep in spots. Some cars were going through today. The road was closed Thursday.

Saunders County Sheriff C. E. Hagstrom directed blasting work on Salt creek Thursday afternoon. Harris credited this with helping to ease the overflow situation.

At Guide Rock, on the Republican river, the ice jam remained the same. Some runoff in that area Thursday brought a slight rise in the water level, according to E. H. Williams, Burlington depot agent.

Cuts New Channel.

Highway 78 remained closed south of Guide Rock by waters of the Republican river. State Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin reported the river appeared to have cut a new channel, crossing the road, to by-pass the frozen section on the main channel.

Fire Official Cites Loss Of Responsibility

On Part Of Individual In Preventing Blazes

People have lost their sense of individual responsibility in the prevention of fires, Richard E. Verner, manager of the fire prevention department of the Western Actuarial Bureau of Chicago, said Friday.

He addressed the second Nebraska Fire Safety conference at the Cornhusker hotel.

"As is so often the case, people have the idea that it couldn't happen to me and have developed the psychology that a certain number of fires are necessary," he said.

Community Problem.

We expect "somebody else to solve our problems," he asserted. But, he added, the prevention of fires lies fundamentally with the community and with the individual.

The fire record of any community can be "just about anything the people want it to be," he said.

A community to be "reasonably fire safe," he asserted, must have modern building codes and ordinances which are enforced, a broad program of public education, trained firemen, adequate

Norwegian Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe De Morgenstjerne was due at the state department this morning to add his country to the list of nations drawing up a tight defense alliance against communist expansion.

The Norwegian government's formal acceptance of an invitation to join in the final stages of the negotiations came yesterday. Simultaneously Norway was reported to have turned down a non-aggression pact which would have tied its future to Russia.

Significant Victory.

The nations already at work on the north Atlantic treaty are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

State department officials welcomed Norway's decision to join up as a significant cold war victory over Russia, one which is bound to increase the effectiveness of the north Atlantic grouping.

Denmark, following Norway's lead, said last night that it, too, would like to join the treaty talk. That leaves Sweden the only "neutral" among the Scandinavian countries which control the approaches to the Baltic sea.

In announcing his country's move, Morgenstjerne told reporters Norway would have "a few observations" of its own to make about the defense treaty.

Throng Pays Final Tribute To Publisher E. P. Adler, Davenport's No. 1 Citizen

... Nobility Of Character Enulogized

DAVENPORT, Ia.—(AP)—A community saddened by the death of their No. 1 citizen, paid final tribute to E. P. Adler, publisher of The Daily Times and president of the Lee Syndicate, at funeral services in Temple Emanuel, Friday afternoon.

Scores of friends and business associates from as far east as New York City and as far west as Denver, Colo., attended the memorial service which attracted such a throng the 300-seat Jewish tabernacle was unable to accommodate them and the facilities of the larger Trinity Episcopal Cathedral across the street, were utilized through invitation of the Rev. Russell K. Johnson, rector of the church with a public address system bringing the rites to those assembled there.

Mr. Adler died in St. Luke's hospital at 5:30 a. m. Wednesday. His body lay in state at the Hill and Fredericks mortuary from Wednesday evening until late Thursday afternoon and thousands of persons filed past the bier there and at his residence Thursday night.

Hundreds of messages of sympathy have been received. Prior to the services in Temple Emanuel, close friends of Mr. Adler, business associates and heads of departments of The Times and Democrat, and executives of newspapers of the Lee Syndicate, attended a prayer service in the Adler residence. After the service the cortege moved to the church over the route followed by Mr. Adler in his morning walk to his office.

In the Adler residence prayer service, Rabbi Eugene Mannheimer, Des Moines, Ia., Rabbi Joseph Baron, Milwaukee, Wis., and Rabbi Abram Vossen Goodmen of Temple Emanuel recited prayers including the 121st and 122nd psalms. Rabbi Baron was formerly of Davenport.

At the services in Temple Emanuel, Rabbi Mannheimer eulogized the late publisher, saying:

"The story of Mr. Adler is the story of an humble, modest man, an unassuming gentleman who walked with God.

Ever Grateful.

"Success did not spoil him. Like most great men he was unaware of his greatness. Success found him ever humble, ever grateful to those about him, to whom he gave credit for the good things that came to him," the rabbi said.

In his family life Mr. Adler's nobility of character stood forth in strong relief. Rabbi Mannheimer emphasized. His devotion to those near and dear to him was firm and unswerving, he declared.

While his love for members of his immediate family was all-encompassing, so generous was his soul, and so infinite his capacity for love, that it embraced those about him, regardless of race or creed, the rabbi stated.

Recalls Civic Service.

What Mr. Adler meant to Davenport, the rabbi pointed out, is best exemplified by the fact that in the dark days of the depression his people turned to him as the man to save them from an impending catastrophe. The civic service he rendered on that occasion, the rabbi stated, was perhaps the greatest and most significant he ever gave.

Burial in Mt. Nebo cemetery was private.

Lincolmites Attend.

Attending the rites from Lincoln were Publisher Walter W. White and Editor J. E. Lawrence of the Lincoln Star; Miss Elva Baxter, Dr. and Mrs. O. V. Calhoun, Joe W. Seacrest and Fred Seacrest.

Mr. Adler was president of The Lincoln Star, a member of the Lee group of newspapers.

New Rent Bill Is Ready For House Action

... "CIVIL RIGHTS" PLAN BEATEN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The house banking committee today approved, 20 to 4, a compromise bill to extend rent controls for 15 months beyond March 31.

Final action came after the committee, by a 16 to 9 vote, had defeated a "civil rights" amendment, and had approved a provision to prevent mass eviction of tenants.

Council Clears Way For April Vote On Schroder Fund Plan

Proposed Charter Amendment Would Provide City $280,000 In Additional Revenue '49-50

SUPPORT FOR CHANGE GROWS

Voters in April will decide whether the city will get more money for its operation.

In special session Friday morning, the city council ordered placed on the April ballot a charter amendment drawn in the charter amendment committee by Ed H. Schroder providing for the following:

(1) An increase of $280,000 of the $1,070,000 ceiling under which the city operates this year for general expenses.

(2) A $25,000 yearly increase of that dollar ceiling.

(3) The second ceiling under which the city operates, the figure obtained by multiplying the valuation of property in the city as returned by the county assessor by seven and three-quarters mills, remains unchanged.

(4) The city shall take the greater of these two ceilings as the maximum it can levy for general operating expenses.

Support for the charter change grew Friday as Schroder told the council he fully approves the amendment as drawn and that he has been assured by Col. Frank D. Eager that he also supports the change. Both Mr. Schroder and Col. Eager in the past have fought moves to give the city more money.

New Deal.

J. G. W. Lewis, executive secretary of Governmental Research Institute and member of the charter committee, told the council Friday that the committee was impressed with the information given them by the directors, the clear way it was presented, their willingness to admit past mistakes and eagerness to answer questions, even those which might be embarrassing. Schroder endorsed Lewis' statements.

"The council will be watched even more closely by the voters than before," Lewis said. Miles explained the reason for placing the amendment on the April ballot was that other financial matters were coming up in May.

"It's fairer to give the people a better chance to scrutinize this proposition by itself. It's more

A Lenten Season Prayer

THE TENETS THAT NEVER PERISH. ... That the love wherewith thou has lovedest me may be in them ... John 17:26. Read 1 Thessalonians 1:2-7

The supreme test of prayer is intercession. Anyone will pray for himself and his needs, but "what are men better than sheep or goats if, nourishing a blind life within the brain, they lift not hands of prayer both for themselves and those that call them friend?"

Jesus advised his followers to use their wealth to win friends, and so "dwell in the tents that never perish." But the gift of prayer is the greatest wealth in the world. Its purpose is not only to seek salvation for ourselves, but to bring all the world's peoples into friendship with each other and with the father.

Atwater Kent Dies

Famed Hollywood Party Giver Was A Pioneer Radio Manufacturer

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Atwater Kent, retired radio manufacturer, philanthropist and famous Hollywood party giver, died today.

"Kent had been in poor health for more than a year, confined often to his mansion showplace on the highest hill of Bel-Air, one of southern California's most fashionable residential districts.

His physician, Dr. John G. MacDonald, said:

"Last fall, Mr. Kent became ill with a virus infection. His death was due to complications from a malignant condition which has existed for some time.

"It was only recently that his condition became critical."

The name of Atwater Kent and radio were synonymous in the 1920s, but the inventor and manufacturer was almost ready to retire before he went into the radio field in 1923.

He marketed one of the first vacuum tube radios. He couldn't turn them out fast enough to meet demand. At its peak the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Co. in Philadelphia produced 6,000 radios a day, employing 12,000.

Kent was born Arthur Atwater Kent in Burlington, Vt., Dec. 3, 1873.

40 Senators Say They Will Vote Against Plan To Shut Off Debate

Wherry: 'Phony'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) said today that President Truman's advocacy of a gag on senate debate by a mere majority may defeat a proposal to make it easier to cut off talk.

Wherry, the minority floor leader, expressed that idea to reporters as the senate began its fifth day of debate on a proposed rule change which would let two-thirds of the senators voting stop debate at any time.

He charged that the administration is making only a "phony attempt" to break the present southern democratic talkathon against the change.

Two Planes Destroyed As Hangar Is Rocked By Five Explosions

Heroic Work Saves Eight Planes, Equipment Worth Another Million

By JOE VOSOBIA.

(Star Staff Member.)

The ruins of a $1,000,000 fire lay Friday in the wake of a ravaging two-alarm fire, which, fed by five explosions, destroyed a Nebraska National Air guard hangar and two bombers at the Lincoln Municipal airport late Thursday afternoon.

No one was seriously injured in the spectacular blaze which burned itself out after raging uncontrolled for more than 2 1/2 hours. The fire broke out at 4:01 p. m.

Ammunition Explodes.

Approximately 30 guardsmen working in or near the hangar—located just north of the United Air Lines terminal—braved the flames and the chain of explosions of high octane gasoline and ammunition to save six jet fighters, two training ships.

Heroic work by guardsmen, naval reserve, CAA and airline employees was reported to have saved an estimated $1,000,000 in equipment and planes from the burning hangar. Destroyed were two army B-26 medium two-engine bombers.

But the flames and torrid heat which turned the hangar into a burning inferno in a matter of minutes drove the guardsmen back and swept through the building destroying all the air guard records, weather, radio, and repair equipment.

Refueling Plane.

Cause of the disastrous blaze was believed to have been from "static electricity" which ignited aviation gasoline spilled while a B-26 plane was being refueled and refueled inside the hangar.

Early Friday smoke still poured from the skeleton-like structure a full 12 hours after the fire had broken out. Lincoln firemen who answered the alarm in force poured water into the gutted wreckage late into the night.

Dives Out Window.

One of the last guardsmen to leave the burning hangar—Lt. Norman L. Baxter—had to leap out through a window when the roof caved in. He was attempting to save records in the guard's operational office in the hangar.

Another guardsman, Joe Meenan, 2610 Vine street, suffered burns on his hand while carrying a "red hot" teletype machine from the burning building.

The story of the fire as pieced together from eye-witnesses gave this account:

Bursts Into Flame.

Sgt. Robert H. Cummings and William C. Littlejohn were reported refueling one of the medium bombers that later was destroyed by the flames.

Gasoline being poured into the B-26 spilled onto the hangar floor when a tank sprung a leak.

It burst into flames.

Almost immediately one of the

Bankers Conference In Lincoln April 18

OMAHA—(AP)—The Nebraska Bankers association will open its spring meetings April 18 at Lincoln. Carl Swanson, secretary, said today.

Other meetings are scheduled for April 19 at Hastings, April 20 at Alliance, April 21 at Broken Bow, and April 22 at Columbus and Norfolk.

Swanson explained that bankers will make a week-long train trip through the state to attend the six group meetings. Emil E. Placock, Wahoo banker, will speak at the sessions.

City's Worst Fire

The million dollar blaze which completely destroyed the main hangar of the Nebraska national air guard was the costliest fire in the city's history, 1925.

According to Fire Chief Paul Feaster the only previous fire to come near Thursday's disaster fire occurred in January, 1925.

The Hye, Schneider, Jenks train elevator, Fourth and J streets, burned to the ground. Loss was set at $500,000, including 250,000 bushels of wheat worth $48,300 which was destroyed in the blaze. The elevator was valued at $70,000. The Municipal airport is considered as part of the city.

Board Will Investigate Base Blaze

Seek Federal Help To Replace Hangar

A five-member board of inquiry will be named to investigate the million dollar fire which swept a Nebraska national air guard hangar, Brig. Gen. Guy Henninger announced Friday.

The board to be named late today will be composed of five national officers. General Henninger said the investigation was routine.

Navy Gives Space.

The adjutant general reported that he would contact the national guard bureau in Washington in an attempt to get the hangar replaced.

Estimated loss of the hangar, one of the three owned by the air guard, was set at $300,000. Tools, radio and other equipment loss was valued at $200,000. The two bombers destroyed, now obsolete, originally cost $300,000 apiece.

Space for tools and equipment saved from the blaze has been given the air guard by the naval reserve at the base.

Senate

Truman's Labor Bill Approved

Committee's Action Is Termed "High-Handed" By The Republicans

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate labor committee today approved the Truman labor bill without change by a vote of 8 to 5. The bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law and substitute the old Wagner labor relations act with modifications.

All the votes for the bill were cast by democrats. All republicans on the committee voted against it.

The vote at this time was taken over better republican protests that further study should be given the measure.

Taft Protests.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), the ranking minority member, declared the forced vote was the "most high-handed" procedure he has seen since he has been in the senate.

Taft said the democrats refused to consider at all any of the amendments to the bill proposed by republicans.

Taft told a news conference that he attempted to offer an amendment which would retain the Taft-Hartley law provision which requires union officers to sign non-communist affidavits.

He said Sen. Robert D. Thomas (D-Ill.) the committee chairman, ruled him out of order.

Sen. Morris (R-Ore.) said he attempted to offer an amendment dealing with the handling of critical strikes and was likewise ruled out of order. Thomas said that if the procedure was high-handed, it was "necessarily so." He said the country is "waiting for action" on the bill to get rid of the Taft-Hartley law.

"The Lord Is Thy Keeper" Drawn As Modern Parable

... By Rev. Clyde At Day Of Prayer

"The Lord is thy keeper" has a meaning for us beyond the metaphor of the shepherd and his care of his flock, Rev. John Douglas Clyde said Friday at the annual World Day of Prayer services.

More than 1,000 persons attended Lincoln observance throughout the day at Westminster Presbyterian church.

The prophet Isaiah introduces it: "I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, and I have kept thee and formed thee for the rescuing of my people; for a light to nations; to open eyes that are blind; to free prisoners from their bondage, and darkened lives from prison," Rev. Clyde continued.

"Here was a new 'dea,' the Westminster pastor explained. "The Lord was keeping his own for a purpose. He was not protecting and favoring them at the expense of the rest of the peoples; they were being kept for a cause."

"The full impact of Isaiah's words must have a tremendous effect upon us on this day of prayer for all the world. You cannot give yourself to thought like that without sensing that we here in America must be kept for a cause."

"And you cannot stand as we stand today, on the threshold of the world, with the need of nations crying out to us, without knowing that cause."

North Platte Crash Claims Woman's Life

... Husband Injured

NORTH PLATTE, Neb.—(AP)—Mrs. Wesley Johnson, 39, Casper, Wyo., died in a local hospital early Friday as the result of injuries sustained in an auto crash on U. S. highway 30, eight miles west of North Platte Thursday night.

Wesley Johnson, 35, is hospitalized with minor injuries. Their two children, Michael, 8, and Sharon Lee, 3, escaped uninjured.

Nicked Fenders.

Mrs. Johnson is believed to have been driving the family 1946 panel truck when it nicked front fenders with a car driven by George Huebner, Hershey. The truck continued a short distance on the pavement and then swerved into the ditch and rolled over several times.

In addition to her husband and children, Mrs. Johnson is survived by her mother, Mrs. Lillian Johnson, Casper, and by six brothers. The family was en route to Joplin, Mo., to visit relatives.

The death brought Nebraska's 1949 highway traffic toll to 15.

Air Guard Hangar Fire

gas tanks exploded and sent flames spreading around the plane hangar.

Alarm Falls.

Shouts of "fire!" echoed through the building when S Sgt Kenneth Bornemeier, who was in the hangar, saw a sheet of fire shoot toward the ceiling.

"I ran and pushed one alarm but nothing happened," he stated. "Then I ran to operations and pushed that one and it blew."

(At the city fire department the first alarm was registered at 4:01 p. m. with a foamite truck being dispatched at 4:07 p. m. Second alarm was sounded at 4:16.)

Immediately guardsmen manning a small chemical fire truck stationed at the hangar began covering the flames with foamite while others rushed to wheel out the six F-80 jets and the two AT-6 training ship.

Second Explosion.

A second explosion rocked the building shooting flames to another B-26 bomber.

Through the mountainous clouds of smoke, the guardsmen, aided by naval air station personnel, United Air Lines and CAA employees, made repeated trips into the hangar to carry out equipment and dump it on the runway.

It was Fire Chief E. P. Feaster who sounded the second alarm which called additional equipment and all off-duty firemen to the scene. Five engines and one truck company responded to aid the engine company stationed at the base which was already fighting the fire.

Kept From Spreading.

Firemen succeeded in throwing up a sheet of water to prevent the fire from spreading to nearby buildings.

Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, who arrived while the fire was still in progress, said that the damage would easily amount to a half-million dollars.

Lt. Col. John M. Campbell, senior air officer, who surveyed the wreckage said the loss would be "well over a million dollars."

"Two of the planes alone," he explained, "were worth a half-million dollars."

Col. Campbell praised the "individual heroism" of the men who kept pulling out equipment until the building collapsed.

"I've never seen a disaster like this in which everybody did such a good job of getting things out," he said. "Many of the men continued to risk their lives by saving planes after it was unsafe to do so," he added. He praised the navy personnel for their co-operation in saving equipment.

SENATE FILIBUSTER

for the anti-filibuster rule has been "phony from the start."

Meanwhile Sens. Watkins (R-Utah) and Martin (R-Pa) announced they were ready to join 38 other senators publicly recorded as ready to vote against an expected ruling by Vice President Barkley to cut off the south-erners' filibuster next week.

Barkley's ruling will be on the question whether two-thirds of those voting can, under present rules, cut off debate on a motion. Presiding officers heretofore have held that the cut-off procedure can be applied only to an actual resolution or bill.

Many Undecided.

Seventeen of 57 senators willing to express their views publicly told the Associated Press they will support the expected Barkley ruling. The Watkins and Martin announcements brought the number opposing it to 40.

President Truman's statement at a news conference yesterday that he favors letting a simple majority of those voting invoke a gag at any time apparently angered some supporters of the two-thirds procedure, as well as the southern democrats.

Whereby said the president's statement, combined with a letter from the CIO to senators urging them to back the majority vote proposal "may defeat the two-thirds resolution because we may never get it up."

This is a phony attempt by the administration to defeat a filibuster, he charged. "You can't break a filibuster by meeting from noon until 6 o'clock every day, as we have been doing."

Lucas has mentioned the possibility of holding night sessions of the senate next week.

"The republicans may think the effort to break the filibuster is shown," Lucas said, "but their attitude has been shown from the start."

A substantial minority of the senate remained publicly uncommitted on the vital issue of Barkley's expected ruling.

Next week Lucas will circulate a cloture petition. It will be filed and it will then be up to Barkley to rule whether two-thirds of those voting can gag debate on a motion. His ruling will be appealed to the senate and there is where the vote shown will come.

1948 Tops Record.

With the technical "know-how" that the United States has, it is "absolutely absurd" to have the number of fires we have, he said, pointing out that the fire loss in the United States in 1948 amounted to an all-time high of $711,000,000.

The United States also is losing 25,000,000 man-hours a year because of fires, he added.

The speaker said the two major causes of fires are faulty physical

Salt Creek Flood Fears Unwarranted

According To Sanitary Board Investigation

Citizens living near Salt creek were cautioned about false flood fears today by Henry J. Amen, chairman of Lancaster county Sanitary Board No. 1.

"There is no real flood danger from the creek at this time," he said. "The board office should be contacted before action such as moving house-hold goods, is taken by citizens."

"We are watching the creek waters very closely," he added, indicating warning would be given in case of actual danger. Both he and District Engineer Walter B. Coale said the overflow ditch west of first street was functioning satisfactorily.

To Remove Water.

Standing water on West J street has been inconveniencing residents, but flooding no longer according to Coale. He said work would be done to remove it as soon as ground frost lets up.

The board began action during its Friday meeting on 4,500 feet of new sewer pipe to be installed west of State street, north of O, on the south side of the Capitol Beach area. It moved to begin advertising for the work sometime next week and let bids during the April first board meeting.

The area has never had sewage service. The project will be connected to the State street system. Coale said no estimate of cost had been made, but the project might cost about $12,000.

MORE OVERFLOWS

bureau comes a flood warning along the Missouri in the Nebraska City area. The river stood at 17 feet there today with a stage of 18 feet (three feet above flood stage) indicated there by Saturday morning.

If the ice jam at Nebraska City holds, the river reading may reach 19 feet by Sunday, the weather bureau predicted. Should the ice break flooding will extend to Rulo with lower crests at Nebraska City, the warning stated.

The Omaha weather bureau said that with continued warm weather bankful stages, with local ice jams, will cause flooding along the lower reaches of the Missouri tributaries from south of Sioux City, Ia., to above Nebraska City.

Slight Elkhorn Rise.

With warmer weather a break-up should occur in the ice-covered Elkhorn river within 48 hours, weather observers at Norfolk have indicated. Thus far there has been no breakup along that river.

A slight rise was recorded on the Elkhorn at Norfolk. Today's reading of 6.6 feet compares with a flood stage of 10 feet. Considerable runoff was reported downstream at Waterloo.

U. S. army engineers reported some lowland flooding on the platte river between Grand Island and Kearney.

Gravel roads generally in southeast Nebraska were beginning to dry out, the state highway department reported. However, dirt and gravel roadways throughout the rest of the state remain in terrible condition.

conditions and faulty human behavior.

If fires from carelessness, which can be traced to "matches and smoking," could be eliminated, he asserted, the largest single cause of fires would be erased.

Five committee reports were heard during the afternoon session. The committee on organized public support recommended that a permanent "Nebraska Fire Safety Program" be organized and that a fire safety committee be appointed in every community where one does not exist.

Other committee reports were those on laws and law enforcement, fire prevention education, building construction, operation, and protection, and fire fighting services.

Richard C. Allgood, executive director of the Nebraska fire safety program, said fire clinics throughout the state are expected to be set up during 1949. The clinics will be coordinated with local fire prevention committees.

A resolution concerning the reclassification of towns for insurance purposes also was expected to be endorsed during the afternoon session.

Physiotherapist Named To Staff At Park Center

Miss Beth E. Taylor has been appointed physical therapist at the Park school center for physically handicapped children which will be opened soon.

The announcement was made Friday by Dr. Gilbert S. Willey, superintendent of Lincoln schools.

Miss Taylor has had 40 months of experience with the army physical therapy at Fitzsimmons general hospital at Denver, Colo.

Taught in Texas.

She comes to the Lincoln public schools from the position of education director at Providence hospital nursing school, Waco, Tex.

Miss Taylor holds a bachelor of science degree in education with a major in physical education from the University of Nebraska. She received her M.A. degree from the University of Oregon on a graduate fellowship.

She has taught at Washburn college, Topeka, Kas., and State College in Washington.

APRIL FUND VOTE

important to the voters than many people realize," Miles said.

Text Of Plan.

The measure as it will appear on the ballot reads this way:

"Sec. No. 2.—The city council shall have power to levy on all taxable property, real and personal, within the city, for general operating expenses, in any one year, a tax in an amount equal to the greater of the following limitations: an amount equivalent to a levy of seven and three-fourths mills upon the assessed valuation of the city of Lincoln as returned by the county assessor for taxation purposes; or an amount not to exceed $1,350,000, which may be increased at the rate of $25,000 annually, commencing with the fiscal year beginning in 1950. The city council now has, and shall continue to have, authority to levy also a sum sufficient to pay an judgment existing against the city and to pay the interest on the bonded debt and the principal of any bonded debt maturing during the fiscal year or within six months thereafter."

Currently the city operates under two ceilings or limits on the amount of money it can collect for general operating expenses—everything from planting trees in parks, repairing holes in streets, buying equipment to paying salaries to city employees. The city must use the lower of the two ceilings.

1930 Low.

The first ceiling is the "dollar ceiling." The present charter provisions passed in 1930 provided an $800,000 ceiling that year which would increase $15,000 each year. The ceiling this year is $1,070,000.

The second ceiling which remains unchanged is the seven and three-quarters mills one. This ceiling is obtained by multiplying the valuation of city property as returned by the county assessor by seven and three-quarters mills.

Since the dollar ceiling is the lesser this year, $1,070,000 was the maximum amount the city could collect for general operating expenses. The new provision, if passed by the voters, would allow the city to use the higher ceiling.

It would probably still be the dollar one because the new amendment ups the present ceiling $280,000 for the next fiscal year and provides for a $25,000 yearly increase in that ceiling.

The seven and three-quarters mills ceiling would go up only in event of a re-valuation of city property by the county assessor. Some members of the citizens charter amendment committee Tuesday night suggested a scientific valuation of property to correct certain present inequities.

How Your Money Goes

Mr. Drew Pearson in his attempts to uncover the facts of life in Washington is at his best, his very best, in the column which appears during this page.

In short, Mr. Pearson has his teeth in the franking privilege, of which congress and other government officials avail themselves, and sometimes abuse flagrantly.

He has the facts to air what he calls one of the biggest franking grabs in congressional history, involving New York Republican Rep. Ralph W. Gwinn. Pearson says Gwinn is sending out more than 900,000 letters, containing 2,250,000 copies of speeches against public housing, federal aid to education, rent control, and other planks of the democratic platform. We do not think it's a matter of partisanship. Any democrat in congress engaged in the same enterprise should be turned over the knee and soundly spanked with Uncle Sam's slipper.

Pearson says estimated first class mailing cost to the post office department of Gwinn's 900,000 political letters is $27,000, cost of the envelopes in which they are enclosed is $1,755. And the estimated check for stuffing is $3,000, a total of $31,000, of which the bulk, $27,000 falls upon the post office department, which operated at a deficit of 450 million dollars last year, a presidential and congressional election year.

Gwinn has but 280,000 constituents in his district.

There has been no word yet if the Hoover commission has taken any action on abuse of franking privileges by administrative departments. Congress, of course, must handle its own franking mess. The whole thing calls for action.

Truman's Box Score

A little more light on President Truman's cryptic reference to a possible countrywide tour while the 81st congress is busy with its chores: As of March 1, the Washington correspondents put it down on the table that Mr. Truman's hopes for legislative enactment of his recommendations have simmered down to this: (a) A watered-down civil rights bill; (b) a labor law which he could only sign reluctantly; (c) a 15 to 20 per cent increase in minimum wage but no extended coverage; (d) moderate increase in social security benefits; (e) no additional taxes; (f) little price or economic control legislation; (g) minor changes in the farm law; (h) no health legislation; (i) a somewhat larger budget than he recommended, mainly for the armed services. If that is it, Mr. Truman will have to use a powerful microscope to recognize his legislative recommendations. If he is to save face he may have to tour the country.

AH, SUCH A HUMAN TALE!

NOTE: An old friend dropped into the office early Wednesday afternoon. "You're busy," he said. "I haven't any right to intrude upon you at this time. I want just three minutes of your time for something which I think is important, then I'll get out."

A substantial man, who for some time has taken a lively interest in matters of government, made good his word. It didn't take him three minutes to tell what was on his mind, pick up his hat, and leave. What concerned him was legislation adopted at the present session of the Nebraska unicameral mid-week, sent to the governor for signature, and intended to tighten up the gates in connection with the old age assistance program. Specifically he referred to the bill, LB 23, the provisions of which require the family of an old age assistance applicant to appear before the county old age assistance boards in Nebraska, and under oath swear that it is impossible for them to support the applicant.

In the mounting costs of the program, in the growing volume of criticism that children amply able to provide support for destitute parents are neglecting responsibility, a responsibility which they should assume where possible, some such step as this should have been anticipated. There never could be a better example than it is impossible to draft legislation to meet all cases, that laws actually framed to carry out laudable motives frequently inflict injury, and result in glaring injustice.

Our visitor is not an old age assistance, never has been, never anticipates he will be, has no relatives on old age assistance, and yet he feels that the legislation which now awaits only signature is so unfair, so short of justice, so likely to do great wrong to the most deserving of all while endeavoring to close the doors upon the children. He may be right.

"Let me take three minutes to tell you my story," the visitor said. "I myself think this measure is unconstitutional, but who is there to test it out? It says to every man and woman over 21 who contributes to old age assistance if someone within their family becomes an old age assistance applicant, under oath they must swear they are unable to support the applicant. They

A Hop And Skip

Around the world, all of the 24,000 miles of its circumference embraced in the flying routes, in slightly more than 90 hours, without so much as a stop. We can speak of lightning and thunder, but in these early weeks of 1949 man has put on a pretty good show himself. It was foretold the day that the Wright brothers flew a clumsy sort of a kite on the Carolina sands, only no one including them foresaw. The late Arthur Brisbane was the best guesser slightly before his death when he wrote of breakfast in San Francisco, an early lunch in New York and dinner in Paris. But all of this business has a somewhat more practical application in the world today than fancy. In Moscow Monday the Russians told of the United States spending three billion dollars for atomic bombs. What will Pravda say when it notes that an American bomber traveled around the world in a non-stop flight in an approximate 90 hours? The ideal plane will be the one that can go anywhere or everywhere in no time.

The Norfolk News noted that water content of the snows at Winnebago in northern Nebraska measured seven inches early in the week. In one fall that would be a respectable cloudburst. Fortunately it did not come down all at once, or run off all at once. Those who had their eyes set upon floods have been disappointed. So far Nebraska has escaped serious damage.

Well, Uncle Sam stepped in, which should be no surprise. The federal reserve board announcing an order easing credit curbs has given business and industry a stronger tonic than the old-fashioned remedy mother talked about with each approach of spring. Good or bad, according to individual viewpoint, it will smooth out a lot of wrinkled brows. And it will mean that the downward price trend in many lines of industry will ease off.

An approximate 20 of the 93 Nebraska counties have reported to the legislature they are financially unable to continue a 25 per cent contribution to match federal requirements related to social security. Washington puts up half the money that comes to the state, but under those requirements in the matter of medical care the state now contributes 75 per cent and counties 25 per cent. It's a tough problem in those areas which are sparsely settled and which possess little taxable real or personal property. But Senator Callan and Senator Carmody were both looking at it squarely when they said some solution should be sought at this session. Otherwise the Unicameral will be tagged for a special session, which means money.

The estimated million-dollar loss of the National Guard hangar at the old Lincoln army air base is a grievous matter. It is the first serious fire that has occurred there since the base was built. The matter of adequate protection is another headache for this Lincoln city council since the base was relinquished to this community.

This acknowledges a bulletin from an organization calling itself something like the Insurance Protective group. It informs us that our insurance is depleted by continued federal spending. The reader gets one guess what it means.

Unduly Alarmed

Said the people of Wyoming, the water users there, to the people of Nebraska:

"You are unduly alarmed about the Glendo reservoir on the North Platte river."

In spite of this welcome reassurance we are inclined to think Nebraskans will take that with a grain of salt. Former Governor Hunt of Wyoming, newly-elected to the senate, insists that the reclamation bureau eyes the Glendo development merely as an approach to taking care of the problem of silt in the river. As he sees it, Glendo would be as useful to Nebraskans as to the people of Wyoming. Maybe so. But the thing that troubles Nebraskans is the change in plan, an increase in contemplated storage at Glendo from 150,000 acre feet to possibly as much as 700,000 acre feet. No silting development, it would seem, warrants the expenditure required for a dam storing 700,000 acre feet of water.

It is a little too much on the grand scale.

get no release from paying into old age assistance. I do not think that a man can be taxed to support old age assistance, at the same time be compelled to swear to an oath he is unable to support a relative."

As to the legal issue raised, this editor has no opinion. It is a question for the lawyers and the courts. An example the visitor cited is so intensely human.

"I think of one case in particular. I know of a man, successful in business, who had accumulated a modest competence, yet found himself wiped out at the peak of the depression in the 30's. Everything he possessed was gone. He did get a job that takes him away from home much of his time. His wife has suffered from a spinal affliction. Last year his hospital bills, exclusive of medicine and medical care by a doctor, amounted to $1,240. His son, a private in the army, married, has a wife and three children dependent upon a private's pay and allowances. He has a mother-in-law to support. As I interpret it, technically before that mother-in-law would be entitled to old age assistance, her son-in-law under oath must swear that he is unable to support her. Being the man that he is, proud, a man who has always taken care of himself and his family, he will never do that. This is just one case in which I have no personal interest, am in no way connected with it. I know there must be others. I say that the measure is unjust, that in attempting to get at the chiseler actually the person most punished is the most deserving."

Well, there is something for the people to think of, unpleasant as it is. There is no perfect law. Legislation intended to promote justice and good government frequently results in great individual injustice. Necessity in compelling the tightening up which this represents does so at the expense of people who do not deserve to be hurt. Senator Metzger, the introducer of the bill, is a kindly, thoughtful, conscientious legislator. In his zeal to get at the chiseler we wonder if he has thought of what he was doing to people who are not chiselers but in distress. The legislators minimize the effects of the legislation; they may be right or wrong.

OFF THE RECORD

"Come now, men—let's see if we can't do better on this next one!"

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—House leaders are quietly investigating one of the biggest franking grabs in congressional history. It involves jaunty GOP Rep. Ralph W. Gwinn of New York, the man who, at minimum wage hearings last week, angrily told a laundry worker witness to take in washing at home if she didn't like the wages paid by her employer.

Gwinn has launched the most extensive one-man mail crusade since the days of former isolationist Congressman Hiram Fish, aimed at undermining President Truman's "fair deal" program. He is mailing out more than 900,000 letters containing 2,250,000 copies of speeches against public housing, federal aid to education, rent control and other planks of the democratic platform. A good part of this already has been sent to the committee for constitutional government and two mailing agencies in New York City for distribution under Gwinn's free congressional frank. The rest is clogging a corridor in the basement of the house office building, waiting to be mailed.

However, what the people on the receiving end of this propaganda typhoon do not realize is that they—the taxpayers—are footing a good part of the bill. The estimated first-class mailing cost to the post office department of Gwinn's 900,000 political letters is $27,000. In addition, the taxpayers are paying $1,755 for the 900,000 tree envelopes he is using, plus an estimated $3,000 expense of stuffing the envelopes with Gwinn's speeches—a service provided without cost to the congressman by the house folding room.

In other words, Gwinn is socking the taxpayers more than $31,000 for his political letter lobby. Under the law, Gwinn must pay the government printing office for reprinting the speeches he is sending out. This came to $7,828.97, plus an additional sum for printing speech titles on the envelopes. The New York congressman paid this by personal check, but he refuses to say where he got the money, except that it came from friends.

NOTE—Not even in the heat of an election campaign has anyone mailed out 900,000 propaganda speeches. Significantly Gwinn has only 280,000 constituents in his district. The attempted communist housecleaning of the French armed forces is much more significant than meets the eye. It also goes to the heart of the question now under debate by the U. S. congress as to whether European armies are worth anything under the north Atlantic pact as a defense bulwark for the U.S.A.

What most people have forgotten is that Maurice Thorez, French communist leader, was once vice-premier of France. At that time, communists also held the vitally important posts of minister of air and minister of national defense. This was the equivalent of having communists in the jobs now held by James V. Forrestal and Stuart Symington in the U.S.A. At that time—from about 1945 through 1946—the French communist ministers of air and defense loaded up their establishments with communists in such key spots as ground crews, armaments, and communications. To clean them all out now by force or loyalty tests would be impossible.

However, the cleansing has been made somewhat easier by the fact that many Frenchmen who once hopped on the communist bandwagon have now voluntarily hopped off. There has been a considerable change of sentiment in France—away from Russia and toward the U.S.A.

The recent French Gratitude Train, which represented a gigantic job of organization and to which 6,000,000 Frenchmen contributed, is a graphic illustration of how the French people are trying to show their true sentiment. When you have the railroad workers of France and the backbone of the French people sending a train all the way to the American people, it's a lot more significant than internal purges.

The congressmen concerned probably don't want it published, but some revealing conversation took place inside the house banking committee when they debated rent control this week. "I hope you fellows write a tough bill," remarked GOP Congressman Albert Cole of Kansas during the rather heated debate on rent control. "Go ahead and make it tough on the landlords—the tougher the better."

Democratic colleagues couldn't believe their ears. "Does that mean you are going to vote for the bill?" inquired democrat Frank Buchanan of Pennsylvania. "Certainly not," answered Cole, "but the tougher you fellows make this bill, the more votes you are going to make for me."

Wall Street's investment bankers are quietly shopping around for a grade A university financial expert with a national name to window-dress a blast against competitive bidding. Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland industrialist and banker, has been fighting for competitive bidding on stock and bond issues for years, but he has been outmaneuvered by the investment bankers. Eaton's efforts made competitive bidding an SEC responsibility. But it is legally required only in the case of public-utility securities, and even then all kinds of exceptions can be granted. Recently Eaton's demands that the public interest come first in new financing caused the SEC to order the Oklahoma Gas and Electric issue and the Ohio Public Service issues to be sold competitively. The investment-banking fraternity, which hates Eaton because of his long-time advocacy of competitive bidding and of regional finance, now wants to fight back—but only under cover through someone with a university name. NOTE—A. F. Whitney, sagacious old president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, has also come out strongly in favor of competitive bidding. "A federal law requiring competitive bidding," says Whitney, "would go far in solving America's serious monopoly problem."

President Truman's forthright message to congress on Feb. 21, requesting an appropriation of $50,000,000 for the Institute of Inter-American Affairs during the next five years, was the best news Latin Americans have heard out of Washington in a long time. The satisfaction felt by our southern neighbors over this move was not due so much to the amount of money involved as to the use to be made of it. Conscientious Latin Americans everywhere know that the institute's funds are spent on constructive, humanitarian projects. Most significant of all, Truman's message apparently foreshadowed a far-reaching policy shift.

Ever since the end of World war II, true friends of the U. S. throughout Latin America have been doing all they could to persuade the U. S. government that helping to build hospitals, directing pest-control campaigns, teaching people to read and write, and providing scholarships for qualified students, were the best ways to build up real continental solidarity.

But the brass hats and their military-minded colleagues who dominated our foreign policy for the last three years couldn't see it that way.

Meanwhile, these same brass hats tried every trick they knew to sell congress on Forrestal's "military standardization" program for Latin America—a vast, fabulously expensive scheme, under which both U. S. and Latin taxpayers would have been forced to pay millions a year to equip the latter's armies with weapons they didn't need and to support military missions they didn't want.

President Truman, newly in office, relying heavily on counsel of others, at first supported this plan. After the 79th congress pigeonholed it, he took no further direct action. The Forrestal group, however, were not to be discouraged.

CHANCE OF MISTAKE.

Holdrege, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In answer to a short article (The Star, Feb. 21) I would like to suggest that Nora Mae Robertson read Matt. 26:52 and the very words of Jesus where He is in favor of the death penalty. He says in part: "...for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." Then if you take a reference Bible you will find this in connection with some of the scripture mentioned by "Suburban" in his letter. I, too, at one time was confused on this subject, until I studied it out for myself. The one thing I am still sorry for in connection with capital punishment is that they could be mistaken and take the life of the wrong person, though according to the scripture, the death penalty for murder is upheld by both Old and New Testament teaching.

MRS. ADDIE HUTCHINSON.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: You have been most helpful in presenting to the people the story of the Displaced Persons. While your job is primarily news for the people, the manner in which you have presented this news has been most helpful to me in my assignment of getting job and housing assurances for additional displaced persons. May I commend highly the reporters who have interviewed these people. They have done their job interviewing so skillfully that these persons, who have had to be frightened of people who asked questions, could speak out completely their story. And the stories are written in a manner that people read them, as is indicated by the response that has come when a writeup appears in the paper.

AGAINST PENALTY REDUCTION.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I think one should certainly feel uneasy as to what possibly may happen next in our legislative body. For the removal of the penalty for drunken driving should be repealed, or are more people of the same opinion as I? I feel that any reduction in the penalty is simply to invite more of it instead of making it unbearable so as to curb the violation. As long as drunken driving is on an increase more extreme legislation seems in order. Perhaps my views should be brushed away for you see I will never be held for drunken driving, so possibly my sympathy for chance killers and cripples of the innocent public isn't great enough, as long as my own interests are not at stake, to justify legislation for penalty reduction on one of our most hazardous road violations.

INCREASE IN LEVY.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. E. H. Schroeder's motion has destroyed the effectiveness of a lower limitation on taxation and has laid the foundation for higher taxes on real estate. He has assumed to retain the so-called seven and three-quarters mill proposition but is actually making it meaningless. He has laid a definite foundation for higher taxes on homes of this city. Those who don't think so will have a very disagreeable surprise when they get their tax statement next year. In 1949, when the mill levy on homes will reach an all-time high, if Mr. Schroeder's amendment is voted in by the people. How strange that there was not one suggestion from Mr. Schroeder for a higher tax on utilities which he must know is inevitable if real estate is to get any relief.

MARY E. KENNY.

NOTE: For 11 years, from 1932 to 1943, Mayor Miles points out, the Lincoln council did not levy the full permissible amount. The danger she sees will depend upon the council.

DIVIDED OPINION

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am grateful to J. G. Smith for the recognition he has accorded the West O street traffic accident prevention program. His reference to center parking is a controversial subject as to whether it constitutes a hazard. Experience has shown that in instances where opposing driving lanes are properly divided accidents have been reduced as much as 40 per cent. In a three-year period from Jan. 1, 1939, to Dec. 31, 1941, before there was central parking, 19 per cent of the accidents on that stretch of road involved head-on collisions. From

Amazing Action of CHEWING-GUM LAXATIVE DETOURS STOMACH!

Millions of people no longer use harsh, stomach-punishing laxatives! Today they're turning to FEEN-A-MINT delicious chewing-gum laxative that does not upset the stomach. Here's what happens! When you chew FEEN-A-MINT, the action of its special medicine DETOURS the stomach. That is, it does not act on the stomach, but only on the lower digestive tract... where it should act! Thus FEEN-A-MINT does not upset the stomach!

Besides, say scientists, chewing makes FEEN-A-MINT's medicine more effective—"readies" it so it flows gently and gradually into the system. You feel wonderful again! The next time you need a laxative, chew FEEN-A-MINT. Get it at any drug counter—25¢, 50¢, or only 10¢.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

CARSWELL AIR FORCE BASE, Fort Worth, Texas.—The sun has burned off the morning mist. In the brilliant sky the tiny speck becomes a four-motored plane. It is the plane we have all been waiting for as darkness slowly yielded to the dawn.

New steel, press, radio gather about the strip where the Lucky Lady II will land. From the control tower the word is shouted down, "Over the field at 10:21:40."

Lucky Lady II with her crew of 14 has made a nonstop, round-the-world flight in 94 hours and one minute. She is, officially, two minutes off the estimated schedule which is almost too perfect.

At first glance this has the look of another spectacular feat—just another "first." But it is a lot more than that. In the concept of top air force planners this pushover of the nation's air defenses—defense being considered always as the capacity to carry an offensive to an aggressor—forward in a great arc.

In this concept the first line of air defense is the B-36, a bomber that has carried a bomb load more than 4,000 miles and has flown back more than 4,000 miles to its base. The B-36 operates today at an altitude of 40,000 feet—so high that fighter interceptors run into difficulties. The ceiling is being pushed higher.

The B-36 bombers, concentrated here for training purposes, will soon be based in numbers at Fairbanks, Alaska, Goose Bay, Newfoundland, and at the huge new base being built at Limestone, Maine. You take a 4,000-mile range from those bases and you cover most of the vital geography on this globe.

Now add the new step-up demonstrated to be practical by the achievement of Lucky Lady II and her crew. This means that by refueling in the air, fleets of B-50s and B-29s have a range at least equal to the big new bomber, the B-36.

That is the matter-of-fact statement of Lt. Gen. Curtis LeMay, commander of the strategic air force. Once Lucky Lady II had been refueled for the first time—over the Azores—she had a range extending well beyond Moscow.

According to the men who plan and execute this first non-stop circling of the earth, Lucky Lady II was not deflected from her course nor even slowed down during the four refueling operations. That made the flight possible. The refueling was done by tanker planes from air force bases at four strategic locations.

But, and this is perhaps the most astonishing thing of all, General LeMay says that bases scattered around the world are not essential. Or, rather, as soon as the refueling technique is perfected they will not be essential. In other words, escorting tanker planes will accompany a bombing mission to the essential refueling point.

There, in mid-flight at a cruising speed of 300 to 400 miles an hour, they will deliver over the additional gas necessary to send the bombers to the target and back.

This is all very well, says the skeptic, under peacetime test conditions. But what about the same operation under enemy attack? The air force planners reply by pointing to the map. At mid-flight of any bombing mission is the Arctic waste or, in the other direction, the vast emptiness of the jungle and desert. The chances of interception are virtually nil even if fighter planes could range at such great distances from their bases.

So the concept of an overwhelming armada takes shape. The ships of that armada can carry to any place on the earth atom bombs of a new and almost incalculable destructiveness.

The men of the crew of Lucky Lady II look surprisingly fresh as they step out on the air strip after four days and nights of incessant flight. In the face of lights and cameras and flash bulbs, Capt. James Gallagher, pilot of Lucky Lady II, speaks with quiet, good-humored confidence.

These are good faces, reflecting strength and character. They are in a very special way American faces. They seem so little aware of the incredible resources of power that they serve. If we are to use that power for the peace and well-being of the world, it is going to take so much character and strength of every kind.

(Copyright, 1949, by U. Feat. Synd., Inc.)

June 1, 1945, to May 31, 1948, there were no head-on collisions, which is not an all-inclusive answer but may provide a better perspective. A review of the accidents there reveals causes of entering or leaving the highway, being struck by passing cars while making left turns, making a left turn and colliding with a vehicle coming from the opposite direction and vehicles parked on the roadway. Would the removal of the central parking area reduce or eliminate such accidents?

CLIFFORD D. MULLINS,
Director, Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council

SOMEONE MUST PAY

Fairbury, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have noted the individuals and the groups attacking the proposed highway program. It seems to me they have been a little rough on Governor Peterson, and that they have confused and befogged the issue, which may be smart politics but in our judgment is departing a long way from the subject of good roads.

Someone has got to pay the bill for good roads. Should we have a property tax on people who don't even use the roads. Should we take taxes from the old age pension fund so that gasoline users and commercial truck owners won't have to pay any more taxes. Should we assume an attitude that it is proper to let the roads fall apart. In short, are we to let the business communities of the state be isolated for the lack of roads. The people of Nebraska are not organized to fight for their cause. State taxes on gasoline are deductible from the federal income tax when used in business operation. Is it not true that all the gas tax paid by truckers would be deducted from their federal income tax as an expense of operation? What's wrong with spending a little of our tax money here at home instead of sending it all to Washington?

Expecting Mild Crete Election

CRETE, Neb.—(AP)—A milder April municipal election than last year's slam bang affair appeared in prospect for Crete.

Last night, citizens and progressive parties held their annual caucuses and no attempt was made to put the city manager proposal on the ballot. That issue caused a considerable amount of heated debate last year.

In fact the two parties agreed this year on two of their candidates. First ward Councilman Karl Nedela was nominated for a short term of office by both groups as was J. E. Pallett, candidate for the school board.

Citizens party council candidates are Edward Paus, first ward, long term; Anton Kukka, second ward; Charles Rynda, third ward, and David Osterhout, candidate for school board.
Progressive party nominees for council include: Leslie Rietfort, incumbent, first ward, long term; William Javorsky, second ward; Ray Raine, third ward, and Mrs. Thomas J. Aron, candidate for school board.

"WHAT THIS COUNTRY AMOUNTS TO DEPENDS ON WHAT HAPPENS TO ITS HOMES..."

This message appeared first in March, 1948. Because so many people have asked to see it again, the life insurance companies and their agents bring it to you a second time.

"I pray the Lord my soul to keep"

Whatever our creed or language, we have all felt the impulse to pray. We may worship in various forms...we may call our God by various names...but, somehow, most of us express our faith in a Higher Power. When our loved ones are spared, we give thanks. At times of confusion or danger we call for guidance. When confronted by a mighty mountain, or the perfection of a tiny snowflake, we are awed by the wonder of life. We teach our children our faith, so that they will not be alone as they face the world.

Faith unites families for greater happiness

FAITH is a family affair!

Faith is not just for holy days. Faith is for every day...at work, at play, in the quiet times the family has together.

We need faith—and never so desperately as today. The world is filled with voices of confusion. It is easy to feel helpless and alone. But faith in a Power outside ourselves can be a bedrock of family unity, a shield for family happiness.

A return to faith can give men and women a broader view of life—a sense of perspective. Then they are better prepared for the give-and-take of family living. Small disputes have less chance of growing into serious quarrels which may tear marriage apart. The family united in faith has a strong and lasting bond.

Children naturally turn to faith when it is a daily part of the family life. And when they know the real meaning of faith, they will be tolerant of those who express their faith in other ways.

The home atmosphere is far different when a family stops trying to walk alone, when it sees its place in the bigger scheme of things. It works together for the things it can control—and trusts its God for guidance in problems beyond its control. Such a family can't help feeling closer together, more sure of itself, happier!

To keep alive the family's faith calls for a positive plan—just as you plan for your family's material welfare. How your family expresses its faith is a matter of choice. What is important to you is that you do express it!

Bill To Tax Soft Drinks Given 'Mickey' By Solons

... Delay "Death Sentence" On Liquor Measure

BY ARCH DONOVAN

Taxing of soft drinks and fountain syrups as proposed by Sen. George Weborg in LB 497 was promptly turned down Thursday when the revenue committee after hearings voted to indefinitely postpone the bill.

Two other bills heard LB 435 increasing the annual license of liquor wholesalers and LB 524 to have the state take over wholesale distribution of liquors other than beer were laid over for further study.

Quits In Huff.

Sen. Weborg left the hearing room, apparently in a huff, when Sen. Chas. Tyrdik, chairman of the committee, objected to his singling out in arguments the needs of obtaining additional revenue for crippled children.

"The bill provides the revenue obtained shall go into the general fund of the state does it not?" Sen. Tyrdik inquired. Sen. Weborg admitted that it did.

When the chairman then suggested that argument be on the general need of the state for more revenue and not just money to aid crippled children, Sen. Weborg quit his presentation and left the room.

Jack R. Beers, Lincoln, president of the State Bottlers association, then presented the opposition. There was no support for the bill other than the introducer. Beers explained that practically all of the 71 bottlers of soft drinks in the state were in attendance and had them stand.

Tells of Dangers.

J. M. Silvers, Beatrice, retired bottler, told of the experience of the federal government with a similar tax during World War I, and the 5 cent drink policy that had been maintained with no increase in price. He said the federal tax 30 years ago put out of business every other bottler south of the Platte river except himself.

Con Celing, Columbus, discussed how operating costs have increased, pointing out that gasoline used in delivery trucks has been increased 10 and 11 cents per gallon by the petroleum industry.

"Dutch" Witte, Fremont, pointing to the tax of 20 per cent on the gross profit said the bottlers only make one-sixth of a cent net profit per bottle.

Monopoly Charged.

Other opponents of the bill were Herb Fierman, Omaha; C. E. Haney, Omaha, representing the State Restaurant association and Morris Fleming representing the pharmaceutical association.

Sen. John Callan in urging passage of LB 435 said that the legislature fixed wholesale licenses of liquor distributors at $500 in order to encourage competition. Instead, he said, the 35 firms that started out have now been reduced to nine and have become a monopoly. He urged a $5,000 yearly license.

The Odell senator said new firms cannot start up because distilleries will not sell to them. He pointed out that purchases by retailers can only be made from state licensed wholesalers.

"The present fee is ridiculous," said Sen. Ray Babcock. "It is a monopolistic business and those operating it must understand that it was brought in by the people of the state and can be taken out by the same people."

Jack W. Marer, Omaha, attorney for the Wholesale Liquor Distributors' association, explained the decline of the number of wholesalers by saying they did not make the profit they expected and that it was a highly competitive business. He denied that contracts exist with the distilleries.

There is a hidden tax twice as great as the amount proposed in the bill, he said, because cities are authorized to collect double the state tax.

Sen. Charles Wilson appeared for LB 524 due to the introducer Sen. W. J. Williams, being in Veterans hospital for a physical checkup. As a result of the Ravenna senator's absence there was no testimony in behalf of the bill.

Jack W. Marer argued that free enterprise should be the policy rather than state monopoly. He pointed out that the nine wholesalers employ 350 persons.

The liquor industry also presented testimony by Nick Jamieson, Grand Island; Ed Prager, Norfolk; John P. Nunnally, Omaha; and Buck Boshalt, Scottsbluff.

Joining them in opposition to the bill were George B. Robinson, sr., executive director of the Temperance League of Nebraska, and Dr. Bertha M. Thomson, of the Lincoln W.C.T.U.

RUINS COOL AFTER FIRE BURNS ITSELF OUT—Pictured are the hangar doors on the south side of the building after the fire had burned itself out. Most of the west wall and all of the north and east walls had collapsed. (Staff Photo.)

"We Had The Fire Just About Whipped!"

... When Second Tank Exploded

An eye-witness account of the city's first million dollar blaze as told to a Star reporter by S Sgt William C. Littlejohn, a member of the Nebraska national air guard, who was in the hangar when the fire broke out at Lincoln Municipal airport.

BY S/SGT. WILLIAM C. LITTLEJOHN.

"I was one of the guardsmen working on the plane near where the fire at the National Air Guard hangar broke out."

"We were putting fuel into a B-26 in the northwest corner of the hangar and had a power unit plugged in."

"The tank sprung a leak and 'there she blew.' Maybe it was the vapor from the power unit that started the gas burning on the floor."

"The tank blew up almost right away. We hollered 'fire!' and some guys came with foamite-truck."

"After the second tank exploded. It was then that everybody had the fire just about whipped when a second tank blew up and our truck ran out of chemical."

"The other B-26 started burn-body began carrying out equipment.

"There were about five explosions in all. I think they were caused by the fuel cells in the planes."

"When the fire department came they sprayed the burning gas on the hangar floor with water. This appeared to push the flames to the hangar walls engulfing them in flame."

"The flames which spread rapidly climbed up the west wall of the hangar, burned across the roof to the northeast corner."

Penalty Of Death Demanded

For Top 4 Ministers Charged With Treason

SOFIA, Bulgaria—(AP)—The communist prosecutor today demanded the death penalty for the top four of 15 Protestant churchmen who are charged with spying and treason against Bulgaria.

In a two-hour summation, Moscow-trained Dimitar Georgiev accused the defendants not only of spying but trying to promote a revolt against Bulgaria's communist-dominated government which he said was to have brought intervention by the United States and Britain.

The prosecutor said names of prominent Americans and Englishmen were mixed "in the spy network of Evangelical leaders" as well as the names of various American church boards and the World Council of Churches.

"That is why this trial is significant not only here but abroad," he declared.

Points To Confessions.

The four for whom the prosecutor demanded the death penalty are Vassil Georgiev Ziapkov, a Congregationalist; Yanko Nikolov Ivanov, a Methodist; Nikols Mihailov Naumov, a Baptist, and Georgi Nikolov Chernev of the Pentecost church.

He asserted the real masters of the four were British and American "imperialists" and American church mission boards.

The Moscow-trained prosecutor asserted all the defendants had made long public confessions in court and that these had been substantiated by the testimony of offered by witnesses.

In denouncing the top four he said "with weeping and repenting they tried to fool the court."

This as a reference to the sobbing and crying of Ziapkov and Naumov when they recited their long public confessions.

He also charged the main defendants "before the war seduced the German Hit-

The prosecutor also claimed there had been "no restraints on the defendants' all of whom confessed publicly. He said the trial was "carried out with complete publicity in the presence of foreigners."

He accused all four of Bulgarian Protestant churches of spreading anti-Russian rumors. These, he said, included stories about starvation in Russia and $15,000,000 people in slave labor there.

The sentencing of the defendants is expected Monday or Tuesday.

Air Guard To Keep Up Operations

No Decision On Plea For Federal Funds To Rebuild

Crippled by the loss of its main hangar, the Nebraska national air guard will continue to operate with its present facilities, Brig. Gen. Guy H. Henninger reported Friday.

Equipment rescued from the flames is being housed in another hangar—No. 2—which will be used as much as possible, Brig. General Henninger said.

Large Hangar.

As yet, no decision has been made whether to ask for more federal funds to rebuild the hangar, General Henninger added.

The hangar, destroyed by the two-alarm blaze measured approximately 215 by 200 feet and had a 45-foot ceiling. It was the only hangar at the Lincoln municipal airport with steel girders.

Owned by the federal government, the hangar had housed the 173rd fighter squadron, detachment No. 3, 22nd air service group, 173rd utility flight group, and 173rd weather station.

Fire fighters kept the blaze from spreading to an air guard supply building located near the hangar. The air guard also has an armory located at another part of the field.

Guardsmen were urged today to attend a meeting at 9 a. m., Sunday to try to straighten out records. Practically all the guard's records were destroyed in the fire, officers reported.

Pass Bill Freeing Insurance Surplus For Public Housing

A bill permitting domestic insurance companies having $5,000,000 capital and surplus to invest in public housing was among nine measures passed today on final reading.

Another bill passed raised the ceiling on the amount county agriculture societies can raise by taxation.

Other bills passed, all non-controversial, were LB 68, 69, 141, 223, 285, 312, 366.

MILLION DOLLAR FIRE DESTROYS HANGAR. TWO AIR GUARD PLANES—Billows of smoke and fire leaped skyward from the gutted wreckage of hangar "number one" which was destroyed by a spectacular fire that raged uncontrolled for more than two and one-half hours at the Lincoln Municipal airport late Thursday afternoon. This picture was taken after the flames had spread throughout the hangar. (Staff Photo.)

Dan Beard Unit Plans Scouting Program For '49

Plans for the 1949-1950 Boy Scout program for the Dan Beard section in the Lincoln district were laid Thursday at a meeting of institutional representatives and operating committee chairmen. The group met at the chamber of commerce.

Troop goals for the coming year built around the fortieth Boy Scout anniversary were discussed. Theme of the national celebration will be "Strength the Arm of Liberty."

Also discussed were the approaching camping season, organization and expansion of section activities, and two spring events, the Mothers day court of honor and the district camporee, May 20 and 21.

Morris Siegel, district chairman, presided.

Chamber Women To Mark 10th Year March 16

The board of directors of the women's division of the chamber of commerce met Wednesday evening at the chamber to discuss plans for the year's activities.

Miss Grace Trott, chairman of the program committee, announced that the March 16 dinner will be a birthday party in celebration of the 10th anniversary of the women's division. Past presidents will be special guests.

The Easter series of singests will start March 20 and end with an Easter sunrise service at Pinewood Bowl, it was announced by Miss Inez Conley, board advisor of the committee.

Mrs. Irene Barber, president, presided and announced the acceptance of Giles Henkle as senior board advisor for the women's division.

Quick Action Averts 2nd Base Fire

Tow Tractor Catches Fire; Pulled Clear From Gasoline Truck

Quick action by guardsmen averted a second fire disaster at the Municipal airport Thursday night approximately an hour after flames had gutted one hangar and destroyed two planes.

A small tow tractor, which caught fire near hangar number two, was pushed clear of a gasoline tank truck holding approximately 4,000 gallons of high octane gasoline.

Sgt. Lowell R. James, who was driving the tractor, was slightly burned when the flames set his clothing ablaze. Guardsmen smothered his fire with their coats when Jones dove for a puddle of water.

Meanwhile, guardsmen working nearby pushed the burning tractor away from the truck despite warnings of officials that the gasoline might explode.

Had the gasoline truck exploded, hangar No. 2, where the guardsmen had just placed equipment, would have caught fire, according to Capt. C. J. Davis.

The fire was believed to have started when sparks from the "tug" ignited gasoline spilled on the small tractor. The tug was damaged considerably.

Trial Delayed When Woman Juror Loses Teeth On Hard Candy

Everything happens in District court.

And Thursday it was a broken denture.

An all-woman jury had just been selected and the trial was ready to get under way. The two attorneys, scheduled to give their opening statements, were awaiting the judge's entrance. So was the jury.

The seconds ticked by. A member of the jury passed around a sack of hard candy. And that's where the trouble began.

One vigorous bite and the damage had been done—a broken upper denture.

The woman, completely flustered, hesitated and then hurried into the judge's chambers. A quick call to her dentist brought the welcome news that everything would be taken care of "right away."

Friday morning, the trial finally began. Everyone was present. But this time the candy was missing.

Russian Mission Gets Out

Eight Angry Soviets Haul Down Red Flag, Leave Blocked Headquarters

FRANKFURT, Germany—(AP)—Eight angry Russian soldiers ran down the red flag over the Russian repatriation mission headquarters today and roared off to the Soviet zone of Germany in a motor convoy.

The Russians were grim-faced as they left the building in which they had been blockaded for two days by American military police. One Russian truck driver spat at an American girl bystander as he left the mission grounds.

The siege of the big yellow house finally forced Russian headquarters in Berlin to order the mission to comply with American orders to leave the U. S. occupation zone.

Reds Strike Back.

But Russian authorities struck back quickly. They ordered U. S. graves registration men to leave the Soviet zone at once. A grave search unit of four U. S. soldiers arrived in Berlin from the Soviet zone last night under escort of a Russian officer. Two other Americans were in Berlin voluntarily on a holiday when the Russian order was issued.

The graves registration unit, which has its headquarters in Berlin, numbers two officers, 11 enlisted men, two American civilians and several interpreters.

The Russian repatriation mission left Frankfurt in three automobiles and two trucks piled high with their belongings. They were escorted by members of the Soviet military mission here.

"Sealed Up" Two Days.

The eight men had been sealed in their quarters for two days by a "little blockade" imposed by the U. S. army after they failed to heed an order from Gen. Lucius D. Clay to leave the American zone by March 1. Clay said they had no reason to remain as the return of displaced persons to Russia had dwindled to almost nothing.

The Russians protested that the order to leave was a violation of the Yalta and Teheran agreements, but their protest was rejected by the U. S. state department.

The trucks which were in the Russian convoy were crammed

Dogs Rescued After 3 Days Marooned On 250-Foot Cliff Ledge

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Three dogs trolicked today following their rescue from a ledge on the face of a 250-foot cliff in Topanga canyon near Los Angeles, where they had been marooned for three days.

The dogs, hungry and frightened when taken from the cliff, apparently entrapped themselves while chasing squirrels.

Rancher Hugh Harlan spotted the dogs with binoculars yesterday.

Capt. John D. Barton of the forestry service and Rancher Paul Gould lowered the animals from their narrow perch in rope slings.

Vesper Concert At Northeast Sunday

The Northeast high school choir and Lincoln high school band will present the 146th concert of the Vesper concert series at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Northeast high school auditorium.

The choir will be directed by Mrs. Dale Snook with Janet Owens and Nina DeBoer as accompanists.

The band under the direction of Lyle Welch will feature Denny Schneider, trumpet soloist, and a trumpet trio number by Tom Durm, Roger Brendle and Carl Honnens.

Mail Route Funds Lower In February

Due To Decrease In Gas Tax Money

Both gasoline tax money and mail route graveling funds distributed to the counties in February dropped from the January figure, State Treasurer Ed Gillette reported today.

He said the decrease, which amounted approximately 30 percent in regular gas tax funds, was probably due to bad weather conditions and resulting decreased travel.

The February figure for regular gas tax distribution amounted to $242,703, as compared to $357,538 the previous month. Mail route distribution was down from $238,358 in January to $161,602 in February.

Regular gas tax distribution by counties included Lancaster, $14,435; Cass, $3,311; Gage, $5,501; Dodge, $2,667; Saline, $2,830; Saunders, $4,041; and Seward, $2,135.

Mail route fund distribution included: Lancaster, $9,623; Cass, $2,207; Gage, $3,377; Dodge, $2,445; Saline, $2,076; Seward, $1,887; Saunders, $2,694; and Seward, $2,090.

Woman Hurt In Car-Bus Crash At 14th And O

Goldie Korowick, 45, 1002 G. who was injured Thursday night in a car-bus crash at Fourteenth and O streets, was reported "resting quite well" at St. Elizabeth hospital Friday.

She suffered injuries on her right side when a City Lines bus in which she was riding collided with a car. Driver of the car, Robert J. McCormick, 24, 2256 S street, was making a right turn in front of the bus, which he thought was still stopped for loading passengers.

Driver of the bus, Kenneth R. Butler, told police he did not see the car until a moment before the impact. The bus was going west on O street.

Ruptured Men Get $3.50 Gift for Trying This

Kansas City, Mo.—Here is an improved means of holding rupture that has benefited thousands of ruptured men and women in the last year.

Inconspicuous, without leg straps, elastic belts, body encircling springs or harsh pads, it has caused many to say, "I don't see how it holds so easy. I would not have believed, had I not tried it."

So comfortable so easy to wear—it could show you the way to joyous freedom from your rupture trouble.

You can't lose by trying. It is sent to you on 30 days trial. You receive a $3.50 special truss as a present for your report.

Ice Destroys 3 Bridges At Huskerville

... Traffic Halted

Huge blocks of ice in Oak creek destroyed three Huskerville bridges late Thursday, halting traffic between the municipal airport and the housing area.

The Cheney, Third and Ninth street bridges were knocked out by the ice jams. All were wooden structures.

Huge cakes of ice were backed up north of the Eighth street bridge for several hundred yards Friday morning. The blocks measured from six to eight inches in thickness.

There has been no flooding in the Huskerville area, and the Oak creek flow seemed to be normal this morning.

At Ninth street the bridge was completely torn away from the west bank. Part of the structure was hanging from the east bank. The same situation existed at the Third street bridge.

All Huskerville residents living west of Oak creek are using the south entrance to leave the area. Those east of the creek must use the north gate at the base to come into Lincoln.

Meanwhile, Salt creek dropped at the sewage plant, Twenty-second and Teresa streets, to a reading of 27.4 feet at 7 a. m., after reaching 28 feet at midnight.

Odom To Attempt 5,000 Mile Trip In Light Plane

... His Second Try

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — Capt. William P. "Bill" Odom was on his way to Honolulu today to make another attempt to fly 5,000 miles in a light plane.

Odom's tiny plane was dismantled and crated into the freight hold of a Pan-American clipper. The clipper left San Francisco at 10:17 o'clock (PST) last night.

Odom said he will wait for favorable winds before attempting his flight from Honolulu to Teterboro, N. J. On his last attempt two months ago Odom set a new light plane record of 2,046 miles, but headwinds forced him down at Oakland, Calif., far short of his goal.

City Water-Light Revenue Shows Gain

Cash receipts for city water and light departments were up during February from the previous month and a year ago. In a report filed with the city clerk the light department listed $30,341.61 during February. Receipts were $45,142.57 during January and $43,620.04 during February 1948. Water department receipts during February were $48,648.78, during January, $40,641.92 and $41,854.73 in February, 1948. The sanitary quality of city water was excellent during the month. L. F. Lape, Jr., University of Nebraska bacteriologist, wrote in a report filed Thursday.

Johnson To Wield Big Stick

Forrestal Successor Likely To Be Given More Authority

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Louis A. Johnson, picked to head the quarrelsome military establishment, may be handed more authority than his predecessor had.

President Truman, who announced yesterday that Johnson will replace Secretary of Defense Forrestal at the end of this month, is expected to ask congress to give more power to the new defense chief.

Johnson, 58-year-old West Virginian, has served in the past as assistant secretary of war. His career includes a term as national commander of the American Legion, years of practicing law, and experience as a money raiser in Mr. Truman's election campaign last year.

No Points Named.

A more powerful secretary of defense was the main theme of the Hoover commission's recent report on reorganization of the department of defense. Forrestal had made similar proposals in the past.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday that he thought all the recommendations offered by the commission—which is headed by former President Herbert Hoover—were very good.

The president named no specific points, but he did say he planned to let congress know his ideas on the matter in a few days.

In New York, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, former army chief of staff, called the present armed forces unification law "wishy-washy." Eisenhower gave strong support to moves toward greater authority for the secretary of defense.

Senators who must confirm Johnson's nomination expressed regret at the retirement of Forrestal, but gave no indication of any opposition to his successor. Democrats generally applauded the appointment.

Groundhog Is Ousted As Spring Harbinger By 940 Maple Trees

LOCK HAVEN, Pa.—(AP)—Move over, Mr. Groundhog—here comes the maple tree as a harbinger of spring.

A month ago, the groundhog saw his shadow and thereby indicated six more weeks of winter. Yesterday, farmer Stuart Groupe of nearby Raunstown reported that since Feb. 18 he obtained 40 gallons of syrup.

That, says Farmer Groupe, is the earliest tapping in Pennsylvania's Clinton county since 1907.

Two Road Bills Killed By Public Works Committee

Cities Will Maintain Own Streets

Bond Issue Plan Also Knocked Out

Two more road bills fell by the wayside Thursday as the legislative public works committee put the ax to LB 111 and 317.

LB 111 provided that the state highway department construct and maintain all highways lying within the corporate limits of any city or village.

Bond Bill Dues. LB 317 would have authorized the state highway department to issue revenue bonds to build toll roads in the state, the bonds to be paid from the tolls collected.

Another bill heard earlier in the week, LB 176, was also killed by the committee Thursday. The measure would have permitted the board of regents to regulate the parking of cars on the University of Nebraska campus.

The committee reported out to general file LB 448, which authorizes the state board of control to convert into a street, a strip of land 25 feet wide and 800 feet long, now a part of the grounds on the east side of the state school for the deaf in Omaha.

Cost $729,340. Before being killed by the committee LB 111 was supported by numerous proponents of the measure, representing several cities in the state. However, the two cities that would be most effected, Omaha and Lincoln, were not represented.

After the virtues of the bill were paraded before the committee, State Engineer Fred H. Kletsch presented a statement to the committee, showing that the additional maintenance and construction cost to the state would be an estimated $729,340 a year, as compared to the $539,572 assistance to cities recommended by the governor's highway advisory committee.

Commission Bill Held. The bill was supported at the hearing by Merle Haynes, mayor of South Sioux City; Mayor Roy Greenwalt of Scottsbluff; C. B. Kinnison, Grand Island; and Mayor Arthur Johnson of Kearney. All of the proponents said they believed citizens of their towns would be willing to pay an additional one cent gas tax and increased motor vehicle registration fees if the highway department would take over the maintenance of the streets.

However, in answer to a question by Sen. Otto Prohs, chairman of the committee, all said they would not be in favor of state highways going around rather than through their cities.

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—Mild weather prevails in the Great Plains states during daytime, with temperatures falling to or slightly below freezing at night in the middle Missouri valley. Very little precipitation occurred in the United States since early Thursday. Temperatures early Friday morning were mostly in the 20s from North Dakota to northern Minnesota and in eastern South Dakota and central and northeastern Nebraska. Temperatures in the eastern states ranged from near zero in northern Maine to the 20s in western North Carolina and most parts of the Ohio valley. Readings in the 30s occurred from the Carolinas westward over interior sections of the Gulf states to Louisiana, and in the southern Iowa and southeastern Nebraska.

Held over by the committee was LB 425, which would set up a Nebraska Highway commission of five members, and a full-time director to aid in the commission's work.

Sen. Arthur Carmody, Trenton, introducer of the bill said the commission members would meet with delegations in their respective areas, and take some of the administrative work away from the state engineer. Sen. Don Hanna, co-introducer, said he favored the amendment raising the commission membership to seven.

Would Save Money. "Anything as big as the highway department needs a board of directors," Sen. Hanna said. "The cost of the commission would be negligible, because the commission would save the department money in the long run and would restore confidence in the highway department."

The legislative committee on banking Thursday killed one bill, reported one bill out to general file, and held one bill for further study. Killed was LB 253, providing for notice to those insured of certain existing rights under issued policies of group life insurance. Reported out was LB 252, providing that the expense of examination of insurance companies shall be determined by the state department of insurance, and that the expense of examination of domestic companies shall include a charge of $15 a day plus actual expenses of the examiner. Held over was LB 251, providing standard provisions for group life insurance.

Guy Liggett, 73, A Retired Omaha Businessman, Dies

OMAHA—(AP)—Guy Liggett, 73, for many years owner of the Panatorium cleaners, died Wednesday night in a hospital.

A native of Iowa, Liggett attended Creston high school and Iowa State college. He came to Omaha in 1898 to be treated for a hearing defect and became a collector for Panatorium cleaners at $6 a week. Later he became owner of the firm. In 1945 he retired but remained as chairman of the board of directors.

Premier Seed Producers In State Named

... By Crop Group

Three "premier seed producers" of Nebraska were named late Thursday afternoon by the Nebraska Crop Improvement association. The honor annually goes to Nebraska farmers doing a good job of increasing improved varieties through seed certification.

Those honored were: Ira Kindig, Holmesville; William A. Tiaht, Beatrice; and August Noerenberg, Ithaca.

Kindig operates a farm in Gage county where he moved with his parents in 1893. He has been actively farming since 1903. He first started certifying crops in 1929 and has continued since that time. Varieties grown under certification include Comfort and Spartan barley; Burt 293, Iogold, Oteo, Cedar, Osage, Clinton and Nemaha oats; and Pawnee winter wheat. Kindig is active in community affairs and is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Kindig

Active In Civic Affairs. Tiaht has lived on his present farm near Beatrice since 1905. He has also been active in community affairs and for 12 years served as a member of the Gage county extension board. He is an active member of the Farmers Union. Tiaht first became interested in certification of grains in 1921.

Since that time, he has grown Nebraska 21, Osage, Cedar and Nemaha oats; Nebraska 60, Cheyenne, Nebred, and Pawnee wheat; Iowa 939 hybrid corn; Midland clover; and Lincoln bromegrass.

Noerenberg was born on the land he now farms. It is located five miles south and one mile east of Ithaca, in Saunders county. He has been getting foundation seed from the College of Agriculture since 1930 and has grown certified seed continuously since 1930. Noerenberg has served in many local public service positions and is president of the Saunders County Artificial Breeders' association. He has grown many improved varieties of crops on his farm including Nebr. 60, Pawnee and Cheyenne wheat; Spartan barley; Nebr. 21, Oteo, Cedar, Clinton and Nemaha oats.

Pennington, Harris Are Nominated As Mayor Candidates (Special To The Star) FAIRBURY, Neb.—Mayor A. E. Pennington was nominated for mayor of the people's progressive party at a caucus held here Wednesday night. Harry B. Harris was nominated by the citizens non-partisan party.

Mayor Pennington has accepted the nomination, but there is some doubt as to whether Harris will accept.

Harold Livingston was nominated for treasurer by the progressive party and Alvin Junker was nominated by the citizens party. B. E. Culver and C. C. McKay were nominated for the school board by the progressives and Herman Michels and Merel Hays for the citizens.

Broadleaf Trees Still Plentiful For '49 Planting

Nebraska farmers were informed Friday that there is still a plentiful supply of broadleaf trees available under the Clarke-McNary tree distribution program for 1949 planting.

Extension Forester Earl G. Maxwell of the University of Nebraska said several hundred thousand American elm, honey locust, Russian mulberry and yellow pine seedlings remain on the list. Already more than 1,200,000 of the trees have been applied for by farmers and ranchers.

"The storm and blizzard certainly proved the value of windbreaks and shelterbelts and this year should be a good one for spring planting," said Maxwell. The Clarke-McNary trees are distributed annually by the agricultural extension service in Nebraska. Farmers and ranchers pay a slight charge for shipping and packing the trees.

Maxwell urged farmers interested in getting the trees to get in touch with their local county extension agents.

Accidental Death MARYVILLE, Mo.—(AP)—An Omaha man was absolved Thursday of any criminal negligence in the death of Marvin Parks, 35, Clearmont, Mo., who was killed in an auto-truck collision Wednesday night. The Omaha was Alfred Granger, 23, who escaped injury in the crash. A coroner's jury held Parks' death was accidental.

1,400 Students To Take State Merit Tests

... Exams In April

More than 1,400 applications from high school seniors in Nebraska for state merit system examinations have been received by the merit system council, Dr. I. J. Montgomery, director of the council, said.

The large number of applications may be an "indication that less employment is readily available," Dr. Montgomery said. Closing date for applications has been set for Mar. 17.

Shows Increase. Only 1,225 students applied for the examinations last year, he said. He attributed part of the increase to the fact that students already had jobs in view when they graduated last year, and did not feel the necessity of taking the examinations.

The examination, prepared by the merit system council, will be administered by commercial course teachers in approximately 90 high schools in the state on April 2, Montgomery said. The students' examination papers are sent back to the merit council for grading and recording.

Names of students successfully completing the examination are placed on file by the council. Employers over the state then inquire through the council for clerical or stenographic employees.

Four-Part Test. The examination consists of four parts. A clerical test of 100 questions, a typing performance test, shorthand test and an aptitude test. Students wishing to qualify only as clerical employees take only the clerical and the aptitude tests. Those wishing to be registered as typist-clerks must also take the typing examination, and stenographer candidates may pass all the tests.

The clerical test covers 11 subjects, including English usage, spelling, arithmetic, tabulation, filing, vocabulary, office procedure, punctuation, coding, following instructions and proof reading.

Any high school in the state that teaches commercial courses and has 10 students applying for examinations are included in the plan, Dr. Montgomery said.

Zimmerman Named SEWARD, Neb.—(AP)—Charles C. Zimmerman of Battle Creek, Neb., has been named to succeed the late J. M. Calder of Lincoln as a director of the Protective Fire Insurance company. At the company's annual meeting, the firm's assets were reported at an all time high of $177,619.66.

Reversal Sought On Tavern Ruling

HASTINGS, Neb.—(AP)—Hastings churchmen demanding a popular vote on Sunday closing of taverns have asked Mayor Roy C. Carter to reverse his ruling that the council voted against the proposal.

The churchmen cited Roberts rules of order as the basis for their contention that the council voted to place the proposition on the ballot instead of voting against it.

Three councilmen voted for the proposal and three failed to vote. Mayor Carter ruled that the failure to win a majority of four lost the proposal.

Harry F. Russell, attorney for the group, contended that under Roberts rules of order, which guide council procedure when a member passes his vote he must "face the consequence of having his action counted as an affirmative vote."

The mayor agreed to discuss the parliamentary angle with the city attorney.

BUT WHEN WE GET to the Van Ducks and the Frans Hals department, everyone seems to be on his toes—
Posing as "Laughing Cavalier," by Frans Hals, in the early days of the living pictures, was Dr. J. E. M. Thomson.

AND THE VAN DYCK picture is, of course, familiar to everyone—Posed as "Baby Stuart" is Snooky Coryell—and since the young lady will be a senior in high school next year, you can tell just how long ago the posing was done.

Considerable water has gone under the bridge and over the dam since the Haydn Art club brought the painting, "Wives and Foolish Virgins," from New York City, to be displayed against a background of voluminous velvet drapes in the federal court room in the old post office building, back in 1889.

The Haydn Art club had just been organized for the purpose of promoting culture in a city that still was very young. There was tremendous interest in the picture, so the Art club decided to have annual exhibitions. In the very early years it sometimes was necessary to skip an exhibition, but those necessities were infrequent.

The Haydn Art club finally was incorporated into the Nebraska Art association, and the exhibitions were then held in the senate gallery of the old capitol. From there they were moved to the old library building—just one old building after another, it seems—on the University of Nebraska campus.

The campus library was the home of the association and its exhibits for several years, and the opening of the exhibit was a gala time. The formal openings were held in the evening, and we use the word "formal" advisedly. The men appeared in white tie and tails—and the evening gowns were lovely creations of heavy satin, velvets, be-spangled, and be-trained. Feminine members of the association brought their choicest silver and linens for the refreshment tables, and the exhibition got off to a flying start.

The beaux arts ball and the living pictures made their appearance about 1927 when the exhibition had been moved to Morrill hall. The living pictures were shown in the auditorium in the basement of Morrill hall, and the sets were not so elaborate as they have been in recent years. However, the living pictures were definitely a success—Each season the auditorium lacked more and more seating capacity and standing room, so eventually the living pictures department of the association was moved to a brand new building on the campus—Student Union. The exhibition, however, remained at Morrill hall, and the current custom is to view the living pictures, then to go to Morrill hall to wander through the galleries, and at last reach the refreshment table.

There have been many presidents of the NAA, and its current head is Mrs. Edwin J. Faulkner who, as each president has done, added a little here and a little there in the way of extra-curricular interests.

In charge of the living pictures this season are Mrs. Leland Coryell, jr., and Mrs. M. G. Volz, co-chairmen. The pictures to be brought to life—and those who will make them live include the following:

The Marquesa De Pontel... Goya
The Pedicure... Degas
John Quinn, Dee Marie Stuart... Renoir
Le Bal Bougival... Renoir
Mr. and Mrs. Jack N. Grainger... Renoir
Something Good... Munsell
Mrs. A. R. Edmister... Thomas Parsons, Eric Seacrest

Jack Wells
Room in New York... Edward Hopper
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nolte
Jimmy Savo... Louis Bouche
Ruth With Veil... Clemens
Admiral Nimitz... Murray
Milton Blankenship
General Eisenhower... Stephens
Eugene Pester

The living pictures committee, however, does not stop with the co-chairmen. Included among those who have been busy painting in the back grounds during the past weeks are Ted Butterfield, Mrs. William Beachly, John Kirsch, Mrs. Joe R. Seacrest, Mrs. S. B. Yates, Mrs. Sam Fieselman, Mrs. Joseph Lotto, Mrs. Robert Edgren and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl. Getting the properties together and keeping an eagle eye on every detail to see that no small thing is overlooked is the properties committee, headed by Mrs. M. G. Volz who is assisted by Mrs. Joseph Lotto, Ms. John Stewart, Mrs. John Angle and Mrs. Emmett Junge.

Assisting Mrs. Ralph Beecher, chairman of the tea arrangements, will be Mrs. J. Lee Rankin, Mrs. Harold Stebbins, Mrs. E. A. Becker, Mrs. Mary Prouty, Mrs. W. A. Fraser, Mrs. F. G. Vogelsang, and Mrs. Charles Swingle.

In past years no formal opening of the Nebraska Art association's exhibition has been complete without the program girls, and the members of the young set who proffer tea and cakes to the throngs of members.

Selling programs this year under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Ellis will be:

WILLARD W. FOLSOM posing as "Robin Hood," back in 1935—It seems that everyone has forgotten the name of the artist—but as a living picture it was perfect.

NEITHER DO THE files of the Nebraska Art association contain the name of the artist who did "Tiny Tim,"—a long time ago—But can tell you that in the living picture (reproduced here) Tiny Tim was none other than Mary Sue Holland—and that Tiny Tim's father was posed by W. P. McDonald, formerly of Lincoln.

Down To Business On News

NO GUESS WORK ABOUT what's what in town today no plugging up of large gaps with chatter about spring, the weather and such and things—Today there is plenty of activity and we can think of no better place to begin the relating of the news, than with brides—

SATURDAY HAS A HEAVY party schedule for Miss JoAnne Guenzel, whose marriage to Donald Pegler, jr., will be an event of April 2—Miss Guenzel will be the honoree at a luncheon on Saturday for which Miss Lois Guenzel and Miss Patty Wieland will be hostesses at the University club. Thirteen guests have been invited for the luncheon and an informal afternoon—

AND ON SATURDAY EVENING Miss Guenzel and her fiancé will share honors at a party for which Mr. and Mrs. John Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin will be hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morrow. The guest list will number twenty-six, and the evening will be spent informally.

THEN—ON SUNDAY, Miss Guenzel and Mr. Pegler will be honored when Mr. and Mrs. George G. Swingle are host and hostess at a 12 o'clock breakfast at Hotel Cornhusker. Places will be arranged for twenty-five. An informal period will follow the breakfast, and Miss Guenzel will be presented with a gift.

THE PRESENT WEEK-END has all of the earmarks of being a popular one with dinner dance clubs—For instance, the members of the Terpsichorean club will have a "surprise party" dinner dance Saturday evening at the Lincoln hotel. In charge of the party arrangements is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Earle V. Johnson, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Dave G. Krahl, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Melker, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Overgaard, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Schlaebitz, Judge and Mrs. Robert G. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Singer, and Cobe Verner.

DANCING AT HOTEL CORNHUSKER on Saturday evening will be the members of the 100 club—The committee has planned a Mardi Gras party, and masks are to be worn during the first hour, we have been told. A feature of the party will be the grand march with prizes awarded for the best costumes. AND—there is to be a Mardi Gras queen already elected by the club members.

The 100 club plans to make the Mardi Gras party an annual affair, with costumes and elaborate decorations each year. The committee for the Saturday party is headed by the club president, Myers B. Cather who is assisted by Mrs. Cather, Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Don Rosenthal, Mr. and Mrs. James Critchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edgren, Mr. and Mrs. George Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Rosewell, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cather, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kosman, Mr. and Mrs. William Golding, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Maly, jr., and Kent Tupper.

Guests of the group will be Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace de Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Enyeart, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Barney, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pansing, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hillyer.

COME MONDAY THE Colonial Dancing club members will have their March party in the ball room of Hotel Cornhusker. Attending the affair as guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beecher, Mr. and Mrs. William Morton, Colonel and Mrs. J. M. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Everett, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Schinn, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jacobs, all of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pumphrey, Wisner, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smithberger of Stanton.

ALSO FOUND SOME guests and homecomers which add to the week-end news—Arriving Friday evening from Vermillion, S. D., to spend the week-end in Lincoln, will be Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Smith who are to be the house guests of Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Battey.

AND EXPECTED HOME ON Saturday are Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Roth who have been spending the past five weeks vacationing in Arizona and California.

MORE ROUTINE MATTERS include the meeting of the Pi Beta Phi alumnae who will have a 1 o'clock luncheon on Saturday at the home of Miss Marjorie Alexis. Mrs. L. K. Rourke will be chairman of the hostess committee, and will be assisted by Mrs. O. J. King, Mrs. Clinton Riebeth, Mrs. C. E. Olstead, Mrs. Lloyd Corp and Mrs. John Huston.

NURSERY NEWS FROM last Tuesday, March 1, tells us that a young fellow by the name of David Mark Verner put in an appearance on that date at Lincoln General hospital. David's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Verner — and his maternal grandmother is Mrs. Nellie T. Magee. The paternal grandfather, is Cobe Verner.

State Day Observed By Lincoln PTA Council

The March meeting of the Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers was held Thursday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. The annual observance of state day was under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Goodwin who read the state day proclamation of Governor Val Peterson to the members and introduced Carl Peterson of the state game commission.

Mr. Peterson spoke to the council on the parks and game preserves maintained by the state and illustrated his talk with photographs of Arbor Lodge at Nebraska City, Chadron state park, Gretna, Valentine Hatchery, the fishery at Benkelman, Soldiers creek and similar sites.

A life membership in P.T.A. was presented to Dr. Gilbert S. Willey, superintendent of Lincoln schools, by Mrs. L. W. Boyde, president of the council, and a talk was given by Mrs. Rex Butler who told how the funds from life memberships were used as scholarships for students of education.

Mrs. L. W. McEvoy presented the report of the nominating committee and Mrs. Paul Portsche, vice president of the council, was named alternate delegate to the state P.T.A. convention to be held April 28 through April 30, at Grand Island.

Members of the council voted to support the passage of LB 405 for state aid of Nebraska schools, and announcement was made by Mrs. Katherine Hurst of a special safety program to be given by pupils of Prescott school over KOLN, Saturday morning, at 9:15 o'clock.

A report was presented by Mrs. A. E. Garager who stated that eight teacher's kits, thirteen CARE packages and sixty-six pounds of clothing had been shipped overseas this year by members of Norwood Park P.T.A.

This year the Nebraska Art association is making an attempt to stem the Sunday afternoon rush for the living pictures. It announces that all those holding membership cards may attend the dress rehearsal of the living pictures on Saturday afternoon, March 5, at 1 o'clock at the Student Union. Although the show will not move along as smoothly and as quickly as it will on Sunday afternoon, the mechanics will be intensely interesting to watch.

DRIVERS WARNED AGAINST STRAY PATCHES OF ICE

The Nebraska Safety council cautioned motorists to watch for icy spots in ravines, on curves and hills.

These spots are the aftermath of melting along highway shoulders and drainage across the right-of-way.
"With the amount of snow that remains on the highways, this type of melting will be with us for some time," Horace Crosby, president of the Nebraska State Safety council said. "These icy spots can cause many disastrous accidents if we are not alert for them. Even the mere fact that you let up on the footpedal may send you whirling off the road."
"If one of these icy spots surprises you, the best defensive method is to maintain your direction and speed or brake your car before you hit the spot. Nevertheless, don't get caught short when one of these lethal spots shows up in your path," he warned.

HOLDREGE, Neb.—(AP)—A. I. Rauch and Robert Miller apparently are cinches to be elected to the Holdrege city council. They were nominated by both opposing parties at their caucuses.

James West To Enter Race For Council

President Of Local CWA Division 62

Petitions were being circulated Friday for James West, president of Division 62, Communications Workers of America, to place his name on the April ballot as a candidate for city council.

West, who is 31, heads the union which represents Western Electric company employees. He has been employed three years by the company as a repairman and investigator.

West has lived in or near Lincoln all his life, attended school at Alvo, and has a wife and three children.

To date seven persons have filed for the council and about six more persons are circulating petitions, according to the election commissioner's office. March 26 is the last date anyone may file.

No one to date has filed for mayor. Three councilmen and mayor will be elected in the May election. Mayor Clarence Miles, Joe Iverson and Lester Dunn have announced they are not candidates for re-election, petitions are being circulated for incumbent Fern Hubbard Orme.

Baby Slayer's Mate Is Jailed

... As Robbery Suspect

LOS ANGELES — (AP)—The common-law husband of Mrs. Georgette Brucks, baby slayer awaiting sterilization, has joined her in county jail.

All because, he says, "I had to have money for when Georgette's sterilizing operation was over and she got out."

Donald Redman, 23, was in a separate cell booked on suspicion of armed robbery and assault with intent to murder. Redman is one of a gang of four whom police are holding for a series of market holdups. Redman was also quoted as saying he couldn't find work since he crushed his hand in a printing press.

Mrs. Brucks, from her cell, said "I'll stick to him; I'll wait the rest of my life, no matter what he's done, after all he stood by me through my trouble." She faces sterilization soon as terms of probation instead of a long prison sentence for manslaughter in the beating to death of her 7-month-old son by Redman.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Mahoney Killing Is Admitted

New Orleans Police Study "Confession" Of Kentuckian, 25

NEW ORLEANS — (INS) — A 25-year-old Kentuckian's "truth serum" admission that he fatally beat and strangled multi-millionaire James A. Mahoney was being studied today by New Orleans authorities.

Police Supt. Joseph Scheuring said that Louis Eugene Hoover, a native of Louisville, related while under the influence of sodium pentathol how he killed the Bristol, Va., landowner in Mahoney's Vieux Carré hotel room Feb. 21. Scheuring stressed, however, that the ex-soldier's statements "are not a confession" because he was drugged at the time he made them.

Pleads For "Cure."
The police officer quoted Hoover as pleading while under the influence of the "serum."

"No matter what the courts might say, if they are inclined to be sympathetic and would set me free, don't let me go. Send me to an institution where I can be cured."

Hoover has been under treatment at two veterans administration hospitals as a mental patient. He was taken into custody several days ago and authorities said he had suggested the "truth serum" test in an effort to solve the crime he said he "may have committed."

He Talks Freely.
Scheuring said Hoover told freely the details of the killing. He quoted the Kentuckian last night as saying:

"I pasted him and I pasted him again and I gave him a good rabbit punch. That's when I broke his neck, I think."

Mahoney's body was found lying on his blood-stained bed early on Feb. 22 when he failed to answer a call he had left. His neck was broken and a blood-soaked towel was wrapped around it.

The police superintendent quoted Hoover as saying that after having dinner with Mahoney the two of them went to the hotel room and got into an argument. He said that he twisted the towel around the victim's neck following a fist fight.

Hoover related to Scheuring and two other police witnesses that he once had tried to leave the room but that Mahoney had restrained him. He said that he became madder and madder and finally "pasted" Mahoney.

Scheuring said Hoover told him he took a bath in Mahoney's room and changed his clothes when he noticed blood on his clothing after the killing.

The police officer said the Kentuckian had been with Mahoney for several days, but added that he obtained only $40 from the man's billfold.

Hoover said he had been with Mahoney during the evening of Feb. 21, but that he couldn't remember whether he had killed him.

Over-All U. S. Tax System Stressed By Dr. Schmidt

The importance of the United States tax system as a whole over and above the individual tax was stressed by Dr. Edward B. Schmidt, economics professor at the University of Nebraska, Friday noon at the Kiwanis club.

The topic of Dr. Schmidt's talk was "Pros and Cons of Sales and Income Taxes." The group met at the chamber of commerce.

In discussing the differences between a sales tax and the income tax, Dr. Schmidt said, "I feel that we worry too much about the advantages and disadvantages of the individual tax. We should pay more attention to the tax system as a whole, that is, the taxes that we pay directly to the government as well as those which we pay indirectly through the higher prices for the things we buy."

"We should be sure that the tax system in its entirety brings about a reasonable distribution among the tax payers of the cost of government. Finally we must ascertain that the system will produce an adequate and a stable revenue assuming us that the services we have determined shall be performed satisfactorily," he concluded.

Jess Williams Makes School Board Filing Fourth Candidate To Enter Race

Jess L. Williams, auto parts dealer and Lincoln resident 48 years, is the fourth to file for the board of education. Friends of Williams filed petitions Thursday containing 176 signatures.

Williams said "If elected, I will have an open mind for all that makes for better education. I shall be co-operative and strive to be worthy of those who have worked before me so successfully."

If I show a preference for one particular field of education, it would be the industrial arts."

Mr. Williams was educated in the Lincoln schools as were his son and daughter, both of whom were graduated from the University of Nebraska.

Others who have filed for board of education are Flavel Wright, attorney, George H. Lemon, incumbent, and J. Lee Rankin, attorney. Four will be nominated in April and two elected at the May election.

The importance of the United States tax system as a whole over and above the individual tax was stressed by Dr. Edward B. Schmidt, economics professor at the University of Nebraska, Friday noon at the Kiwanis club.

The topic of Dr. Schmidt's talk was "Pros and Cons of Sales and Income Taxes." The group met at the chamber of commerce.

In discussing the differences between a sales tax and the income tax, Dr. Schmidt said, "I feel that we worry too much about the advantages and disadvantages of the individual tax. We should pay more attention to the tax system as a whole, that is, the taxes that we pay directly to the government as well as those which we pay indirectly through the higher prices for the things we buy."

"We should be sure that the tax system in its entirety brings about a reasonable distribution among the tax payers of the cost of government. Finally we must ascertain that the system will produce an adequate and a stable revenue assuming us that the services we have determined shall be performed satisfactorily," he concluded.
